FRENCH BEAT BACK GERMANS

Attacks Upon Hill No. 304 and Dead Man Hill Repulsed

LOSE A SMALL TRENCH

Repeated Rushes of Invaders Gain For Them a Minor Footing at Terrible Cost

Paris, May 30—French troops were driven south of the Bethincourt-Cumieres highway in a most powerful assault delivered by the Germans last night on the front between Dead Man's Hill and Cumieres ,the war office admitted today.

The Germans gains however, represent an advance of not more than 10 yards.

On all other sectors of the northwestern front of Verdun violent German attacks were completely repulsed.

Following an entire day of heavy bombardment of the French lines west of Cumieres, the crown prince hurled into action a new division, just arrived at the Verdun front.

All the German assaults on the eastern slopes of Dead Mans Hill broke down under terrific French fire.

Berlin , May 30—Violent artillery duels are continuing on both banks of the Meuse, on the Verdun front, the War Office announced yesterday. French troops made two weak attacks on Cumieres village, taken last week by the Germans, but these were easily repulsed. The text of today's army headquarters' statement follows:

"Western front: Enemy monitors which approached the coast were driven off by our artillery.

"The aerodrome at Furnes was successfully bombarded by Germans aviators."

BULGARS AND GREEKS

Advance Into Macedonia Said to Have Been the Result of Secret Agreement

Paris, May 30— The Bulgarian advance into Greek Macedonia was made as the result of a secret formal agreement between Greece and Bulgaria, according to information received in neutral diplomatic circles in Rome, says a dispatch from the Italian capital to the Paris Matin.

The Havas correspondent at Athens reports that the Greeks are fortifying the Demir-Hissar section with great haste. Bulgarian and German officers are said to have entered the town. The Bulgarian continue their concentration of troops. Engagements between patrols are occurring in the Kilindir-Orsovo sector.

London, May 30—Great ar[illegible] the part of the Bulgarians, following their occupation of several Greek forts in the vicinity of Demir-Hissar, is reported in a Reuter dispatch from Saloniki.

It is said official information has been received there that important Bulgarian forces are being concentrated at Nevrokop, in Bulgaria near the Greek border, as well as at Xanthia.

There have been no further developments in the Demir-Hissar region. The town remains in the hands of the Greeks, although the inhabitants have departed.

The advance lines of the entente allies on the Vardar and the hamlet of Kilindir are being bombarded.

CHURCH BLAMED FOR VICE.

Contribute to its Increase by Apathy Says A. D. Chiquoine.

Philadelphia, May 30.—By indifference the churches of Philadelphia are contributing to the increase of vice and immorality in the city and vice conditions are a striking proof that church members are grossly failing in their duty of Christians and citizens, according to A. D. Chiquoine, secretary of the Pennsylvania Anti-Vice Society, who delivered an address Sunday night in St. Matthew's Luthern Church, Broad and Mount Vernon Streets.

The speaker declared that petty gambling and lotteries are so openly conducted that a man who fails to see them must be physically blind.

"A visit to many stores," he said "will frequently reveal a chance cardlying on the counter. A church member, to be consistent, can find little differentiation between gambling for a few pennies or merchandise in an open store and, gambling for large sums behind locked door of a professional gambling establishment.

"Immorality to the average church member is the Tenderloin. They fail to realize that the Tenderloin is a condition and not a contributing cause primarily to vice and immorality. It is reached by its habitues and patrons through a succession of steps, not by a single plunge. The Tenderloin represents only a part of the vice of the city; it attracts attention because it is flaunted. And so pretty gambling in the corner store street crap game and similar forms of vice receive no notice. Indeed, it is countenanced and abetted, for lotteries in churches and bazaars conducted by church members are far from unusual. When the church, to be consistent, gives the same attention to vice conditions as its members do to business, the moral conditions will improve. It is rather incongruous to demand of the police to suppress what the church supports and protects through apathy."

DIES OF BROKEN HEART

Indiana Autoist's Grief Saps Life Away, Although Court Holds He is Blameless.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 30—On May 21 an automobile driven by Leo O. Bales ran down and killed Leonard Harold, 13 years old. Yesterday Bales died of a broken heart, although he was found blameless of the accident and exonerated by Judge Newton in a letter written at the request of Bales' physician in the hope of saving the man's life.

Bales was arrested at the time of the accident, but was released on bond, Sunday night Bales' physician awoke Judge Newton and told him that his patient could not survive unless his mind was relieved of the strain. Judge Newton sent the letter exonerating Bales by special messenger, and today in court dismissed the charge against him. Bales died while court proceedings were in progress. Witnesses to the accident said Bales was blameless.

EMPEROR TAKES CAR RIDE.

Pays the Regular Ten Pfennigs Fare and Then Tips the Motorman.

Elbing, Prussia, via Berlin, May 29. to London, May 30.—The German emperor today appeared in the role of a street car passenger. He boarded a crowded street car and paid his groschen —10pfennigs— like the other "fares." The emperor, with a small suite, arrived here this morning, unheralded to visit the Schichau shipbuilding yards. He walked to a car of the bobtail variety ad asked the motorman whether the car ran to the Schichau ship yards. Receiving a affirmative answer, he called out: "All right, gentlemen, jump on."

The emperor and the members of his suite each dropped a groschen in the box, and when the trip ended the emperor thanked the motorman for his first experience in riding on a street car, emphasizing his thanks with a ten-mark piece.

The local authorities learned of the emperor's presence before the inspection of the yards was concluded and automobiles were in readiness to take the party to the station.

ARE SPARRING FOR POSITION

Each Republican Manager Wants First Nomination at Chicago

OPEN HEADQUARTERS

Plan for Alabama to Yield to New York Will Meet With Instant Opposition By Roosevelt

Chicago, May 30. — Republican Roosevelt headquarters were opened in Chicago yesterday by Herbert L. Satterlee and Lawrence Graham of New York, and active work getting delegate votes for the candidate begun. The headquarters were opened several hours before Colonel Roosevelt arrived here en route to Kansas City, where he is to deliver an address tomorrow. George von L. Meyer, former Secretary of the Navy is expected in Chicago today to assume charge of the pre-convention campaign for Roosevelt.

Indications are that the plan of Frank H. Hitchcock to have the name of Charles E. Hughes presented to the Republican National Convention as the first candidate may result in an interesting fight between the Root, Roosevelt and Hughes forces. Hitchcock's arrangement is that when the roll of states is called in alphabetical order to make nominations for President to have Alabama, the first on the list, yield in favor of New York, so that Hughes may have the advantage of having his name placed first. When friends of former Senator Elihu Root and Mr. Roosevelt learned of this plan they declared they would attempt to get recognition from the chairman to present the name of their candidates before that of Justice Hughes. they said that the chairman of the convention would be obliged to settle the dispute at the time it arises.

Alice Hill Chittenden, of the New York State National Anti-Woman Suffrage Association. notified C. D. Hilles, chairman of the Republican national committee by telegraph that she would appear before the convention committee on resolutions to oppose insertion in the Republican platform of a national woman suffrage plank. The National Anti-Woman Suffrage Association will send a delegation to Chicago to work against the plank, while members of the Congressional Union for Women Suffrage will appear to plead in favor of an endorsement of nationwide suffrage for women.

Chairman Hilles has been advised that the six delegates representing Hawaii, Porto, Rico and the Philippines, who, under the reapportionment of delegates, adopted by the Republican national committee in 1913, are given seats in the convention without votes, will make a determined fight before the Credentials Committee for the right to vote. They will argue that they are as much entitled to vote as the delegates from the District of Columbia and Alaska.

WOMAN HELD AS DUEL AID

Dressed as Man, With Husband in Attack That Cost His Life

Kinder, La., May 30—Mrs. Will Knouse, whose husband was killed in a pistol duel with DDr. Henry Buck in front of the Buck home, has been taken to jail at Oberlin. The woman admits, officials declare, that she and her husband planned revenge for an alleged slanderous remark made in anonymous letter to her husband more than three years ago. Dr. Buck denies knowledge of the letter.

Mr. and Mrs. Knouse motored from their home near Lake Charles to Kinder, nearly 40 miles, to Dr. Buck's home. The woman was dressed in man's clothing and both she and her husband wore false moustaches, officials say. They told Dr. Buck they had come to take him to attend a sick person. He recognized them, returned to his home ostensibly to get his medicine case, but brought a pistol. The duel followed. A coroner's jury exonerated Dr. Buck.

CONGRESSMEN PAY UP LEVIES

Montague is Last One to Forward Required Primary Fee

LIST IS COMPLETED

No one Can Enter Race After Friday Hottest Campaign in State Prevails in Norfolk

Representative Andrew Jackson Montague, of the Third District, yesterday deposited with State Auditor Moore his check for $150, complying with the requirements of the candidacy provision of the primary law. Mr. Montague was the last of the members of Congress whose campaign for re-election will take place under the primary law, to qualify.

Apparently the list of Congressional aspirants is complete. Under the law every candidate for a seat in Congress must serve proper notice of his candidacy at least sixty days before the primary. The Congressional primary takes place on the first of August. In order to participate, therefore, aspirants for Congress must pay in their candidacy fees and file notice of candidacy with the State Democratic Committee before the close of business on Friday.

Representative Bascom C. Slemp, of the Ninth District, and E. W. Saunders, of the Fifth District, alone of the present members of Congress have not paid candidacy fees. Each will be nominated by conventions in his respective district and will not come under the provisions of the primary law.

With only four days left in which rivals may qualify, it appears now that the close of the books on Friday will find every district without a contest except the Second. Talk of opposition in the Fifth and Tenth District is now heavily discounted. In the Fifth it looked at one time last winter as if Dr. S. T. A. Kent would make the race but his boom, however seems to have collapsed completely and the incumbent will have no opposition.

In the Tenth District, State Senator Aubrey E. Strode has been urged to come out against Representative Flood. Mr. Strode says he still has the matter under consideration.

That was before the Peace of Washington, which compromised the factional war and put an end to the fight between Carter Glass and Rorer A. James. The adjustment, it is conceded generally, has strengthened Mr. Flood's hand in his district and it is now regarded as improbable that Mr. Strode will attempt to make the race this year.

The battle- royal of the August primary will be staged in the Second District, where Representative E. E. Holland is opposed for re-election by J. Peter Holland and J. Edward Cole of Norfolk, and Harry L. Maynard, of Norfolk County. Each of the candidates is prosecuting a vigorous campaign.

While it is not believed that ther will be a fifth candidate from the Second District, there is said to be a possibility that Rear-Admiral Dillingham will enter the race either as a Democrat in the primary or as an independent in the general election.

THE LATE JAMES J. HILL.

Wealth of Railroad Magnate May Reach $500,000,000

St. Paul, May 30—James J. Hill, pioneer railroad builder and financier, died at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning at his Summit avenue home.

According to a statement given out by Mr. Hill's physicians death was caused by an infection due to bowel trouble. Following an operation performed Saturday afternoon he sank rapidly and his extreme age, 78 years militated against recovery.

The funeral will be held at his home at 2 p. m. Wednesday, Contrary to expectations interment will not be in Calvary Cemetery, but in a private mauseleum to be erected at North Oaks farm, five miles northeast of St. Paul, long the summer home of the Empire builder.

"Vicar-General Gibbons attended Mr. Hill during his last hours and will officiate at the funeral services at the house and also at the grave. Archbishop John Ireland, it is expected, will deliver the funeral sermon.

James Jerome Hill came of poor Irish and Scotch farmer stock. He was born near Guleph, Wellington county, Ontario, Can., on September 16, 1838, and was the son of James and Anne (Dunbar) Hill. His childhood was spent in Canada. From his seventh to his fifteenth year he attended Rockwood Academy, a Quaker school. He intended to study medicine, but his father died in 1853 and the young man took a job in a country store.

He ascended rung after rung of the ladder until his wealth at his death was estimated from $100,000,000 to $500,000,000. He was probably worth between $200,000,000 and $250,000,000 When the European war began in July, 1914, Mr. Hill called his bankers together from the First National Bank and Northwestern Trust Company of St. Paul and more than $100,000 000 in securities was said to have been in the boxes Mr. Hill laid before them.

"There should be no trouble," said Mr. Hill. "but if there is this amount is at your disposal."

The First National Bank then borrowed from Mr. Hill $10,000,000 worth of Great Northern Railroad bonds. These were placed with the Treasury Department in Washington and $6,000,000 worth of emergency currency allowed under the Aldrich act was shipped at once to the First National Bank. It was found necessary to place only $125,000 worth of this in circulation. In a few weeks the entire amount was returned to ...ington.

Mr. Hill had the absolute control of the First National Bank and Northwestern Trust Company, which have a combined capital and surplus of $6,500,000. He was a large owner of stock in the Chase National Bank of New York, the First National Bank of Chicago and the Northwestern Bank in Minneapolis, as well as of the Great Northern Pacific Steamship Company.

The greatest portion of Mr. Hill's wealth, however, was in the stocks and bonds of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroads.

DEATH OF COL. JOHN S. MOSBY

Veteran Confederate Leader Expires in Washington Hospital Today

WAS OCTOGENARIAN

Deceased Had Been in Declining Health During the Past Six Months or More

Washington, May 30—Col. John S. Mosby, leader of Mosby's Rangers during the civil war, died at Garfield Hospital at 9 o'clock this morning.

Death was directly due to complications incident to age. Colonel Mosby was in his eighty-second year.

He had been in failing health for more than six months. His condition became so alarming about a month ago that he was taken to Georgetown University Hospital and subsequently moved to the Garfield Hospital.

Present at his deathbed were his sister, Miss Blakely Mosby; his brother-in-law, Charles W. Russell, and his daughters, Miss Ada Mosby, Miss Pauline Mosby, and Mr. Stuart Mosby Coleman, of this city.

Interment will be at Warrenton, Va., the former home of the deceased.

Colonel Mosby was born on his father's plantation of Edgemont, Powhatan county, Va., on December 6, 1833. He was the eldest son of Alfred D. Mosby and Virginia McLaurin, being thus of Welsh and Scotch descent.

He was in his boyhood, educated at the country schools, until advanced to a degree where the assistance of a tutor was enlisted. Under his teaching he was prepared for the University of Virginia, which he entered in 1850.

He was graduated from the University of Virginia in 1852, when he was but nineteen year old. Immediately he returned home, but growing restless he entered the Virginia bar, and began the practice of law at Bristol in 1885. Soon after establishing himself in his professional career he married Miss Pauline Clarke, daughter of Judge Beverly J. Clarke former member of Congress and United States minister to Guatemala.

At the outbreak of the civil war, Mosby, then a young lawyer, enlisted as a private in the First Virginia Cavalry of which J. E. B. Stuart, later the leader of the entire Southern Cavalry force, was colonel. It was thus that there began a friendship between the young and raw volunteer and the dashing military officer that endured until the latter's death in 1864.

Mosby was at the first battle of Manassas, but took no active part in the fighting. It was not until a year later that he gained his first prominence. At that time, the vast army of McClellan was lying like a huge serpent, around the east, north and west of Richmond, within sight of her spires. Lee lay with his army between.

Mosby, whom Stuart, struck with his military capability, had attached to his staff, had been sent by his commander to reconnoiter the flanks of the enemy. On his return he suggested to Stuart the advisability of a raid by a cavalry brigade entirely around McClellan's army.

Acting upon the idea, Stuart, with two regiments, made his celebrated "ride around McClellan," which so dampened the spirits of the North In his bulletin announcing the feat Lee mentions the name of Mosby as having been active in the enterprise. This is the first time his name appears in history.

R. D. BRUMBACK DEAD

Members of Common Council From Second Ward Expires After Short Illness

Robley D. Brumback, member of the Common Council of Alexandria from the second ward and a well known young attorney, died at an early hour this morning at the home of Stasius Meade on Braddock Heights, where he has been spending the summer. The death of Mr. Brumback, was a shock to the community as he was only ill a few hours and his death was entirely unexpected. On Sunday afternoon he complained of his throat, as he was suffering with a slight attack of tonsilitis. On Monday his condition grew worse and he had several severe attacks of indigestion. These became worse in the night and are thought to have brought on an attack of heart disease, the immediate cause of his death which occurred between four and five o'clock.

Mr. Brumback was a native of Luray, Page county, Virginia, having been born in that place, January 19th, 1880. He was a son of Dr. J. B. Brumback, and his father and mother are still living in Page county. He graduated from the University of Virginia in 1903 with the degree of Bachelor of Law and came to Fairfax, Va., to live, entering the law office of his brother-in-law, Walter T. Oliver, with whom he formed a partnership. In 1904 he located in Alexandria and commenced the practice of law. For a time he was local counsel for the Southern Railway Company.

In 1908 Mr. Brumback was elected member of the common council from the second ward and had represented that ward since that time. In 1912 he was elected as president of the common council and served until 1914. In April of this year he was nominated in the Democratic primary for another term of four years and would have been elected in the general election which will be held on June 13th.

Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed but his brother, Dr. Brumback, of Luray, is expected here this afternoon to complete the arrangements. It is expected that his body will be taken to Luray for interment. Mr. Brumback was one of the stewards of Alexandria. Washington lodge of Masons.

OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY

Partial Dies Nan in Alexandria—Many Persons On Public and Private Excursions

Decoration Day has been quietly observed. Business was practically suspended, the banks having been closed, as well as the government and city offices, and the schools were given a partial holiday.

Many persons enjoyed private excursions to rural neighborhoods and the excursion steamers and trains were well patronized. The chief feature of the day will be the exercises in the National Cemetery late in the afternoon.

The exercises will be as follows: Addresses will be made by Silas C. Robb, past commander of Maryland, and Rev. L. M. Ferguson, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church. Lincoln's Gettysburg address will be read by Willard P. Graves There will be music by E. Albert Long, commander of Cushing Camp, S. O. V. Gurnon R. Scott, S. O. V., will preside. There will be singing by a choir under the direction of J. T. Preston, and invocation and benediction will be pronounced by Rev. Dr. Eugene B. Jackson, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Miss Dora Varney will give the assembly call on the bugle and also sound taps. A salute will be fired by the Alexandria High School Cadets commanded by Capt. Conrad Johnson, at the end of the exercises. Graves of the soldiers buried in this cemetery were decorated this morning.

Graves in Arlington and other cemeteries around Washington were strewn with flowers today.

The capital city honored her soldier heroes—both the living few, who paraded in faded uniforms and others who have answered the last roll call.

This afternoon President Wilson delivered the country's spoken word of approval and thanks to the few living veterans. They stood before him as a delegation from the Grand Army of the Republic scattered through the forty-eight states.

ECHO OF THE LUSITANIA

Huge Floral Wreath Will Be Lowered Into The Potomac

A huge floral wreath, with the name of the ill-fated liner Lusitania, inscribed upon it, will be lowered this afternoon into the Potomac in memory of the 1200 souls who went to death when the ship sank.

The ceremony will be started from the deck of the Charles Macalester on its afternoon trip to Mount Vernon.

As the steamer pulls out into the middle of the channel from its dock at the Seventh street wharves in Washington and heads down stream the wreath, five feet in diameter will be lowered slowly to the surface of the water with the single word—Lusitania— staring as a silent memory at the crowds gathered on the dock.

When the wreath touches the surface the ribbons upon which it was lowered will be released and the tribute, which has been made on cork frame, will float down the river.

Charles Douglas, third officer on the British steamer Swan River, died at Newport News, as the result of injuries received on Thursday night when beaten by unidentified assailants while ashore.

OBSERVANCE OF MEMORIAL DAY.

Peace has been smiling upon this great republic virtually over half a century. Apart from a short-lived conflict with Spain, conditions in the United States have been tranquil since Ulysses S. Grant, forty-eight years ago uttered the words, "Let us have peace," While our country has passed through several crises during the past year, incident to the terrible conflict now in progress in Europe, our President has steered the ship of state clear of breakers, and today we are at peace among ourselves and with all the world. Under such blessed conditions we are observing Memorial Day, when the memories of the dead, those who offered up their lives upon their country's altars, are brought to our minds by appropriate ceremonies and soul-stirring orations. Those of both sides, the blue and the gray, receive the same honors: we are all Americans now, living, moving and having our being under one flag—the Stars and Stripes—and long may it wave.

One of the interesting stories of the Old Testament tells of a prophet who was sent from Judah to Samaria to cry against an idolatrous altar set up by Jeroboam after he had caused the revolt of ten tribes of the Jews. He was told not to return by the way he went, nor to eat or drink in the place. He was, however, led astray by an old prophet, who had cast his lot with Jeroboam, The disobedient prophet was slain by a lion. In process of time the old prophet who had caused him to disobey and lose his life died, and according to his urgent request, his sons buried him by the side of the prophet who came out of Judah. Thus, it was that the bodies of the representative from the federal head (Judah) and the old prophet who was among those who had cast his lot with the seceders rested side by side.

Remains of wearers of the blue and the gray now sleep in national cemeteries. This thought, it will be remembered, enthused the late President McKinley, who favored the sepulture of the dead of both sides in national cemeteries to be cared for by the government.

The services at the National Cemetery at Alexandria will, as usual be witnessed by many our our citizens this afternoon. Reminiscences of the four years' war between the states will be brought to the minds of those of us who were living in Alexandria during that period. The Braddock House property was used as a government hospital, and almost daily the sound of the muffled drum was heard on King street. Moving slow behind would be seen an ambulance bearing the remains of a federal soldier who was to have his last resting place in the enclosure then on the confines of our city, but now a part of Alexandria. This was continued until several thousand had been placed in our National Cemetery.

Such scenes are now but dim memories of the past. The doleful rumble of the ambulance is no longer heard, and today the soft summer zephyrs will greet the visitors to the bivouac of the dead.

NO PROSPECTS FOR EARLY PEACE.

Evidently the German government wishes to encourage the belief that it is willing and ready to consider terms of peace This may mean one of several things' It may be a bid for the sympathy of the neutral world, a kind of blundering attempt to throw the responsibility for continuance of the war on the allies. It may be a real overture.

The London Times discussing recent reports that President Wilson was preparing the way for American mediation in the war, declares that mediation of this character cannot be entertained because, it is impossible and the war, as a matter of principle, must be fought until Germany is beaten.

President Poincare some two or three weeks ago and Sir Edward Grey only the other day announced that the war would continue, until Germany is driven to ask for peace and they are in position to dictate its terms. So long as either side entertains a rational expectation of carrying the struggle to a decisive finish, there is nothing to encourage the belief that a termination of hostilities will be arranged on the basis of a deadlock.

So long as Germany offers no other terms save the perpetuation of the status quo in respect to the present map of Europe this fearful clash is likely to continue. Recently a high German official compared present conditions in Europe to an elongated game of poker in which the winners. after an all-night sitting, desired to quit, while the losers were clamoring for a continuance in the hope of recuperation.

Germany's stand, however, might be compared to a freebooter who, after an incursion into some peaceful community, retires with his ill-gotten gains and announces to the posse which pursues him that he is ready for peace provided he be allowed to retain all he has carried off.

Germany desires peace. There is no doubt of that, but so long as that country will listen to overtures only upon the condition that she be allowed to hold Belgium, Northern France, Poland and other places, the allies will fight on and shed their last drop of blood and spend the last farthing.

While it may be and probably is true that scarcity of food in Germany has not reached such a serious phase as the recent appointment of a "Food Dictator," is taken in some quarters to indicate, the editorial utterances of some of the newspapers published in the Fatherland, together with news items which are now and then permitted to pass the official censor, leave hardly any doubt that the Teutons are hard put to it properly to feed the vast armies in the field and to keep the wolf from the door of the civilian population. More than that, evidences are not lacking to show that Germany is beginning to run short on a great many commodities which are absolutely essential to vigorous and efficient continuance of military operations on the gigantic scale now obtaining. For some time rumors have been persistent of a steady dwindling of copper, rubber and gasolene supplies which threatens, if long continued, to bring about a greater or less paralysis of war enterprise.

A German workman who has escaped to Italy is quoted as saying that the munition factories of the Central Powers are running short of materials, that some are being shut down and that others are working only on part time.

It is logical to assume that recognition of this fact, though the fact itself is persistently denied, has something to do with the admitted disposition of the Teutons to consider proposals of peace.

ANNIVERSARY OF LANDING OF JEWS.

The 261st anniversary of the landing of the first Jewish settlers in this country will be celebrated at the Young Men's Hebrew Association in Richmond tonight. Herbert E. Ezekiel, chairman of the educational committee, himself a lineal descendant of one of the early settlers will preside. The address of the evening will be delivered by Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, Superintendent of Public Schools.

In 1655, only thirty-five years after arrival of the Puritans at Plymouth Rock, Jews settled in New York, then New Amsterdam. On April 30, 1492, the decree was made public which expelled the Jews from Spain. On the same day Columbus was ordered to equip a fleet for his voyage to the Indies, which led to his discovery of America.

At least five Jews accompanied Columbus on his voyage. One of them, Torres, was the first to set foot on the new soil. One year later, in 1493, Jewish children were in the New World. They had been sent to the Island of St. Thomas from Spain. In 1521 the sugar plant was transplanted by Portuguese Jews from Madeira to Brazil, And it was from Brazil that the first Jews came to New York.

The history of the Jewish race from the destruction of Jerusalem up to the time Columbus discovered America and for many subsequent years is a dark blot upon the annals of the world. It is impossible in a newspaper article to give even a synopsis, as the subject is too vast. It took Senator Zeb Vance over an hour in the Opera House in this city about twenty years ago to give a short summary, and Rabbi Calisch, of Richmond, on another occasion consumed equally as much time in presenting a brief summary of some of the darker chapters of mediaeval days. They, said many things, however which showed the sufferings of the race during most of the present Christian era. Rabbi Calisch told of the Portuguese forcing thousands of Jews upon rafts and turning them adrift upon the ocean. Those who were not drowned perished from hungar and thirst. It was at this critical time when Columbus started for the new world and opened up an asylum for the persecuted race as well as for the thousands who were suffering from the overcrowding of Europe.

Reference has several times been made to present conditions in Galicia, where one-half of the Hebrew race is now segregated, after having been despoiled of all they possessed. Unable to leave the country, they are bearing first the persecutions of the Russians and then that of the conquerors of the land.

ANOTHER SACRIFICE FOR HARMONY.

The noble part played by Colonel Rorer A. James in stepping aside and leaving Representative Carter Glass a clear field for a position on the National Democratic Committee was referred to in yesterday's Gazette. But little, however, was said concerning the equally able sacrifice made by Congressman Hal Flood in the interests of the democratic party.

The latter appears from this angle to be the leader in self sacrifice in the effort to assure harmony in the Democratic convention at Roanoke next Friday.

Mr. Flood was regarded as a prominent possibility for national committeeman before he eliminated himself from the field as to that honor by declaring for Congressman Carter Glass. That was sacrifice No. 1, in the plan to give the position to Glass. without opposition.

When Mr. James of Danville got into the field for national committeeman a condition of affairs was created which promised an unfortunate struggle, at Roanoke.

All this time Mr. Flood was the one best guess for state chairman to succeed J. Taylor Ellyson, if the latter withdrew, because of his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination. Now Flood stands aside to make way for James to be chairman when James retires as a candidate for national committeeman. This is sacrifice No. 2.

There is no doubt that Flood could have had the state chairmanship. The course of the Tenth district Congressman in overlooking himself in order to compose the general situation for the good of his party in the state commands admiration. Flood has made his reputation fully as a fighter; this year he has been demonstrating that he can do just as much as a peacemaker, and he is a decidedly bigger figure in Virginia democracy today that he ever was before.

NEWS OF THE DAY

An unsuccessful attempt to assassinate the Austro-Hungarian Minister to Persia is reported in a Constantinople dispatch.

In the attacks on the British Isles from sea and air during the war, 2,166 persons have been killed or wounded . The number of deaths is 550.

Four more German aeroplanes have been shot to earth by the French near Verdun. Two were brought down by French aviators in the course of air fights, fifteen of which occurred during yesterday. The others were brought to earth by high angle guns mounted on automobiles.

Feeding the masses of the population in the larger cities by means of central kitchens under municipal auspices is the solution selected by the German government to meet the problem of the food supply and distribution during the period of the war.

Torrents of rain accompanied by heavy winds, yesterday caused a partial collapse of the Lautenslager Hotel building at Gallipolis, Ohio, Several persons had narrow escapes when the walls fell in. Several other houses were damaged and cellars in the business district were flooded.

By a practically unanimous vote—but one dissenting voice was heard—the Actor's Equity Association of New York, representing 7,000 professional actors and actresses of the "legitimate stage" voted to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor at a meeting yesterday.

The Senate passed the $43,000,000 rivers and harbors bills by a vote of 35 to 32 yesterday, after three weeks of stuborn filibustering led by Senator Kenyon on the Republican side and Senator Hastings on the Democratic side. Fnal efforts of the filibusters to recommit the measure were voted down by narrow margins in rapid succession.

Another big order came yesterday to the Baldwin Locomotive Works, Philadelphia, It is for seventy locomotives for the Lehigh Valley Railroad. They will cost about $40,000 each, so that the contract involves $2,800,000. The New York Central has asked for bids on twenty-five Mallet type engines. Orders for 61 locomotives were taken last week by the American Locomotive Company. Of these twenty-five of the Mallet type were for the Chesapeake and Ohio, and thirty-six are for export to Egypt, Cuba, and Japan.

Riots have broken out in Athens as a result of the Bulgarian invasion of Eastern Macedonia, Hostile demonstrations were made in front of the palace. Bulgarian troops equipped with German artillery and led by German officers are violently bombarding the allies' positions on the Demir-Hissar front in Macedonia the Athens dispatch stated. Bulgarians have penetrated Greek territory for fifteen miles, and at some points where Greek troops tried to stem the invasion they were vigorously shelled by the Bulgars.

That Associate Justice Charles E. Hughes would issue a statement with in the next few days absolutely prohibiting the further use of his name as a possible presidential candidate, was the substance of a report which spread over Washington yesterday. It was stated emphatically by certain friends of Mr. Hughes that he had made up his mind to remain silent no longer, and the when he did speak he would declare that he was not a candidate, had never been a candidate, active or passive, and that he would not permit the presentation of his name to the Chicago convention.

Albert Thomas, a farmer, was carrying a bucket of corn along a pike near his home in the vicinity of Hartford City, Ind., when an automobile owned and driven by Dr. C. E. Stout, forced him to seek safety by jumping quickly from the road. In the car with Dr. Stout were four companions including the doctor's 3 year old daughter. Angered at what he considered reckless driving, Thomas hurled his bucket of corn into the automobile. The bucket struck the child squarely, breaking her neck and crushing her head. She died almost instantly. A great mob collected around the jail, threatening to lynch Thomas, and he was hustled to Michigan City for safety.

The Austrians are meeting strong resistance in their drive on Vicenza and last night, for the second successive day, the Italian war office reports that the invading troops have failed to gain. The battle for the moment, has resolved itself into an operation similar in many respects to the great campaign before Verdun The Austrians are concentrating the fury of their attacks on a comparatively narrow front, describing a slight arc from Asiago to Avsiero. Here their drive brought up against the Italian chain of forts which guard the railways to the southward Reports from the front set the Austrian losses to date at 100,000 in killed, wounded and missing.

President Wilson was extended an invitation yesterday to make an address before the Democratic State convention and review a parade of Democratic hosts in Roanoke on June 2, He told Representative Carter Glass, who headed the committee that extended the invitation, that he would let him know within the next 24 hours whether or not he could arrange his plans to go to Roanoke.

A reward of $300 has been offered for the capture of John C. Morris, it is alleged, who shot and killed Ely Collier near Lydia, Greene county, last week. Collier's friends are offering the reward. Morris is supposed to be hiding somewhere in the Blue Ridge Mountains east of Rockingham. The shooting occurred in the public road a mile from the Rockingham line. Collier, who lived 12 hours after being shot, said Morris fired at him twice, both bullets taking effect. The trouble started over chicken fight two week ago.

Asbury Christian, pastor of Union Station Methodist Church, Richmond, began yesterday morning before Judge E. H. Wells in Hustings Court, Part 2. The plaintiff seeks damage in the sum of $5,000 for injuries which she claims were sustained when her buggy was struck by the automobile of the minister. The accident occurred on September 18th last year. Mrs. Carter was driving south along Chamberlayne Avenue when the automobile, according to the plaintiff's declaration, struck the buggy in the rear. Mrs. Carter was injured, the buggy badly damaged and the horse severely hurt.

Because he could not meet his financial obligations, Daniel Stern aged 21 years, committed suicide yesterday in Lynchburg by shooting himself through the head. He was a window dresser in a Lynchburg store. He came from Richmond, where his mother lives, two months ago.

George Nash was brought to jail yesterday at Gate City, from Dungannon charged with shooting Bays Taylor, his cousin, perhaps fatally. Taylor it is claimed was drinking and staggering, when Nash took hold to steady him; this angered Taylor and he struck Nash's elbow with a stone. Nash thereupon shot him through the intestines and there is little chance for his recovery.

Judge R. Carter Scott, of the Richmond Circuit Court, yesterday afternoon awarded a writ of mandamus in the injunction proceedings brought by Commonwealth's Attorney W. W. Orange has been visited in the past three days by severe electric storms accompanied by rain and hail. Gardens have been ruined, corn fields washed away and stock and houses destroyed. Two horses belonging to W. W. Sanford, were struck by lightning and killed on Saturday evening. Yesterday lightning struck the Hotel Coleman, tearing a chimney to pieces and started a fire which was extinguished before much damage had been done.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Slaven and their 9-day-old baby were stunned Sunday when lightning tore a three-foot hole in the roof of their home at Harrisonburg. The storm was an unusually severe one. The ground was covered with large hailstones and the rainfall was a near-cloudbust. Streams are very high. Besides the Slaven home, lightning struck five other places in Harrisonburg, The New Virginia Theatre, the Baptist Church and three other houses were more or less damaged.

A SYMBOL OF HEALTH

The Pythagorians of Ancient Greece ate simple food, practiced temperance and purity. As a badge they used the five pointed star which they regarded as a symbol of health. A red five pointed star appears on each package of Chamberlain's Tablets, and still fulfils its ancient mission as a symbol of health. If you are troubled with indigestion, biliousness or constipation, get a package of these tablets from your druggist. You will be surprised at the quick relief which they afford. Obtainable everywhere.
